

LIFE GROUP HOST F.A.Q.'s

Who will be in my group? How are groups formed?

There are a few ways you can form a group:

- You are welcome to invite your friends to join your group whether they attend St. Luke or not. We try to select a topic for the series that would appeal to both church members and non-churched people alike.
- Beginning Sunday, August 18, we will open up registration for new groups. St. Luke attendees will be encouraged to fill out a form with the days they are available to meet. Then on Wednesday, September 11, the Life Group Leadership Team will put groups together based on schedule, available groups, and perceived chemistry.
- Summary: you can fill your group, we can fill your group, or it can be a combination of the two.

How many people are in a group?

Typically 6 to 10 people depending on the meeting space.

When do they start?

The sermon series for our new life groups will be from Sunday, September 22 to October 27. Six sermons, six meetings. Sometimes groups meet a seventh time to celebrate completing the series.

What if someone in my group needs childcare?

There are a lot of ways groups can manage childcare so that everyone can participate each week. These ideas are listed in the HOST Manual and will be reviewed in detail at orientation.

What if I can't be there for one or two of the meetings between Sept. 22 and Oct. 27?

We know that life happens and calendars are full. That's okay. Your group can customize your meeting schedule to work around conflicts. All of the sermons will be recorded and made available on our website, so that group members don't have to see them live and that your group could watch it a week or two later and not miss a beat.

What days do we meet?

You pick.

How long do meetings last?

Typically 90 minutes to two hours.

What if I can't meet at my house?

That's okay. You can always meet at the church, or another place in the community like a coffee shop, restaurant, library, community center, or park.
